

Help Stop VA Education Benefits Fraud

The VA Office of Inspector General (OIG) asks you to report any VA-approved school that is billing veterans (whose enrollment is funded by VA) a higher tuition rate than civilian students for the same courses.

VA-approved schools that engage in education benefits fraud often

- advertise a lower tuition rate than they are billing VA for veteran student enrollments;
- offer discounts, tuition waivers, or scholarships exclusively to civilian students; or
- bill at least 20 percent more than non-VA-approved schools with similar course offerings.

Please submit a complaint to the VA OIG if you know of any schools engaging in the above practices.
